

All the Standard Bank Sikuvile Journalism Awards 2022 winners

The first live Standard Bank Sikuvile Journalism Awards since 2019, saw the Daily Maverick's Pieter-Louis Myburgh's recognised as Story of the Year.

Sbu Ngala, chairperson of Sanef, Daily Maverick's Pieter-Louis Myburgh winning Story of the Year for Digital Vibes, and Standard Bank CEO, Lungisa Fuzile

Hosted by the South African National Editors' Forum (Sanef) and sponsored by Standard Bank, the event took place at The Venue, Melrose Arch.

Myburgh, who was one of several journalists who won the Investigative Journalism category in 2018 for the collaborative body of work "Gupta Leaks", also won the Investigative Journalism category for "Digital Vibes" in the Daily Maverick. He is also the author of the book: Gangster State (Penguin Random House).

The Upcoming/ Rising Star of the Year was shared by Shonisani Tshikalange of the Sunday Times and TimesLIVE and Onke Ngcuka, from Daily Maverick. Ngcuka was a finalist in the Lifestyle category.

The Allan Kirkland Soga: Lifetime Achiever Award honoured Anthony Heard for his commitment to media freedom and to democracy at one of the darkest moments in South Africa and, despite dire media restrictions, it was Heard that ensured the true story of the Gugulethu Seven was told.

All category winners received the coveted Sikuville Journalism Award Trophy, certificate and R15,000 prize money. All Finalists also received certificates.

There were no nominations and no winners for Category 2: Indigenous Language Reporting In Community Media and Category 8: Popular Journalism.
