■ Where do you live, work and play?

I live in the south of Johannesburg, in an area called Bassonia. I work in the heart of Sandton and play just about wherever there is a vibe.

■ What's really behind your selfie?

Behind my selfie is a passionate family man. No smoke and mirrors, just 'me' trying to be the best version of 'me'.

■ Tell us about some of your few favourite things.

My family, travelling, experiencing new things, cars, gadgets, and relaxing.

■ Describe your career so far

The cliché 'rollercoaster' is how I would describe my career, thrilling, exciting, with ups and downs, but more up's for sure. I am an adrenalin junky, so I don't foresee me getting off the ride.

I started off with a fluke as an account executive, and the rest is history. I have been lucky enough to have run some really great blue-chip clients.

Later on in my career, I had the opportunity to move from a 'client service' role to more of a business development role which has allowed me to understand the inner workings of running an agency. The entrepreneurial side of an agency is now where I am at my best.

🔴 What are you streaming/reading/listening to right now?

Currently, I am glued to Masterclass, the subscription platform where you can access pre-recorded sessions by experts in various fields. There is such a vast variety of topics, and great lessons in each one. It really gets you thinking, and is incredibly motivating. Even if it's a subject I am not particularly interested in, the takeaway is amazing!

🔴 What's your favourite gif?

□

🔴 If we took your phone and scrolled through it now, what would we find?

Baby pictures, and then more baby pictures and videos.

🔴 Do you have any secret talents?

Cooking is what I would be doing if I was not an 'Ad-Man'

🔴 What are some of your best loadshedding survival tips?

Gas stove first and foremost, making sure your phone/laptop is always fully charged so that it gets you through the couple hours of darkness. Make sure there are battery-operated touch lights where you need them the most. Use the time to literally switch off and use it as good focus time.
