

Renaissance Skin Science offers RSS treatment

Renaissance Skin Science is a new aesthetic skincare clinic, situated within the Renaissance Body Science Institute in Bree Street, Cape Town. The RSS treatment is essentially a combination of treatments which has been put together by the Renaissance Skin Clinic in order to offer the client a unique treatment.

What the RSS treatment entails

The treatment starts with a deep cleanse, ridding the skin of blocked pores and dead skin cell build up. The deep cleanse is followed by a medical peeling which improves skin texture, reducing fine lines and wrinkles, as well as pore size, and aims to brighten and lighten the skin. The final step is a lacto bionic infusion which plumps up and hydrates the skin.

Renaissance Skin Science is next door to the Renaissance Surgical Clinic and therefore supported by a team of three resident plastic surgeons: Dr Des Fernandes, founder of Environ Skin Care, Dr Stuart Geldenhuys and Dr Nerina Wilkinson.
