

One School expands to the US West Coast

The One Club for Creativity has announced it is expanding One School to the US West Coast due to overwhelming response from creatives and corporate sponsors. Los Angeles-based executive creative director Ez Blaine has partnered with the club to run the One School program there.

One School is a free 16-week portfolio program for Black creatives started with Oriel Davis-Lyons.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>