

Logogog appoints Leonie Smith as editorial assistant

Having demonstrated a love of words throughout her life, Leonie enjoys discovering and editing mistakes of the written word. Having completed her Bachelor's Degree in Language Practitioners in 2006 and an Honours Degree in Applied Linguistics in 2007, she has entered the working world to put her passion into practice.

As a member of PEG, the Professional Editors' Group, Leonie will ensure that our clients' work conforms to the rules of good grammar, acceptable language and careful editing and proofreading.
