

Win with your opinion

British price comparison site PriceDude.co.uk has launched a competition aimed at encouraging people to share their opinions on everything from movies, books, music and travel. In a prize draw to take place at the end of August, they will be giving away £200 ($400). It's free to enter - the only requirement is that a review on any product is submitted and published through the site. Visit PriceDude.co.uk for more information.
