

Point wins Unilever's Enterprise Service Excellence Award

Point account manager, Karen Davidson.

At an awards evening, held late last week, Point, an African print procurement company, received the Enterprise Service Excellence award from Unilever. Through the partnership and exposure to the print company, Unilever have realised the considerable benefits of a print management system across many print categories but most specifically in point of sale material and promotional packaging.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>