

ELLE magazine announces new appointments

ELLE magazine has appointed Asanda Sizani and Tarryn Oppel as members of its new-look fashion team. They will join senior fashion editors Poppy Evans and Kirsty Stoltz at South Africa's leading fashion magazine on 1 June.

Four former interns are now on the permanent staff at ELLE, including Jenna McArthur (features writer), Giselle Esau (beauty assistant) and Poppy Evans who has managed the intern programme for the past three years. Poppy's promotion to senior fashion editor becomes effective on 1 May.
