“Before dreaming up this show, we reflected on what makes Disney’s leading ladies so unique,” said producer Kenneth Feld. “Having three daughters, it didn’t take long to realise that every princess had one thing in common: each one had a dream and the determination to make it a reality. We wanted to share that inspirational message with our audiences by celebrating the stories of these courageous young women and the friends that helped them along the way.”

“Showtime Management is delighted to invite audiences in South Africa to a new Disney On Ice spectacular every year, and I can’t imagine a more fitting tradition than bringing this magic to the region over the winter school holidays,” said Tony Feldman from Showtime Management. “This year’s Dream Big production not only delivers timeless tales, but reminds us all that no dream is out of reach if we have the courage to fight for it.”
