Van Coke has written songs with almost all the artists on the lineup – old and new friends with whom he has a very special connection. Not just as people, but also on an artistic level and this is tangible during the captivating two-hour concert when they perform these hits together.

"I've had the privilege to collaborate with some of South Africa's finest musicians. The Francois van Coke & Vriende 2018 Pretoria show was without a doubt the highlight of my career. It was inevitable that I would bring this to my city," he says.
