

Nissan Z sportscar unveiled in production form

About a year ago Nissan unveiled the Z Proto. That car was supposed to be a precursor to a version that was under consideration for production. The response must have been overwhelming as the Nissan Z Sportscar has made it into production and it is virtually unchanged from the design study.

“For us at Nissan, the Z is a part of who we are, and represents years of our commitment to customers. Through the Z, we bring the latest sportscar design, performance and excitement to as many people as we can,” said Ashwani Gupta, chief operating officer/chief performance officer of Nissan.

Continue reading the full story on Double Apex.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>