

AECOM names Adriaan Vorster as new director for architecture in Africa

Adriaan Vorster has been appointed AECOM's director for architecture in Africa. Vorster is a professional architect with 19 years' experience, including a decade at a strategic, managerial, and business leadership level.

Adriaan Vorster, director for architecture in Africa, AECOM

In addition, he has 15 years' international experience in leading the design and delivery of large-scale healthcare campuses in the UK, North America, and the Far and Middle East. He has bachelor's degrees in architecture and construction sciences from the Nelson Mandela University.

Vorster is a registered professional architect with the South African Council for the Architectural Profession, a chartered member of the Royal Institute of British Architects, the South African Institute of Architects, and the South African Federation for Health Engineers. He joins AECOM from SSH, where he was the healthcare director for the MENA region, resident director of South Africa, and partner.

Vorster is a member of a small international peer group of world-class healthcare construction consultants. By overlaying the specialist needs of healthcare facilities with advanced construction and project management techniques, Vorster is able to guide clients and contractors in the efficient delivery of fast-track, high-quality, large-scale infrastructure projects.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>