

inQuba receives strategic investment from Convergence Partners

inQuba, worldwide specialist in managed Customer Experience (CX) software, has received growth capital from investment firm Convergence Partners in the form of a new equity injection, in order to accelerate its global expansion.

The inQuba investment will be housed in Convergence Partners Fund I (CPI), the vehicle through which Convergence Partners invests in software businesses among other key pillars of the African ICT market. CPI will hold a significant minority interest in inQuba post transaction.
