

New lineup for RSG

RSG has some new programme lineups from 1 April, part of its 75th birthday celebrations, which officially occur in October 2012.

Highlights

- The afternoon drive time show, Tjailatyd will be extended by an hour on weekdays from 3-6pm, with more music, competitions, short features, traffic and weather updates
- The midday slot from 12-3pm will also undergo a revamp to include more music, humour and competitions
- Laid back music from the 80s and 90s will be aired in the evenings at 10pm when listeners can Tjil
- The classical music, literature, art and drama offering moves slightly earlier between 8-10pm, for connoisseurs' appreciation
- Specialist music programme will be aired on Mondays at 9pm that will alternate in series of 13 episodes, focusing on cult, jazz, blues, rock, hip-hop and rap music respectively
- The self-help phone-in show that focus on matters of the heart, the mind, job search and finding people and things, moves slightly earlier to 11pm

click to enlarge

75 years of service

The radio station started out as the SABC's B-Service in 1937 and was known as the "Afrikaanse Diens van die SAUK" (Afrikaans Service of the SABC) for many years until it became known as "Radio Suid-Afrika" (Radio South Africa) in 1986. In the early 1990s, it changed its name to "Afrikaans Stereo" and then took on its slogan "Radio Sonder Grense", now known as RSG after the SABC radio restructuring in 1996.

For more, go to www.rsg.co.za.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>