

#BeautifulNews: Cultivating a better future through reading

Imagine reading these words, but not understanding them. This is the reality for many in South Africa. When children are behind in their reading, it affects their personal growth, and all areas of society. Taryn Lock understands the power of words. She has committed her time to sharing the wonder of books with eager learners, opening up their world to new opportunities. "I realised there was so much joy in inspiring children to read," Lock says. By helping youth go beyond their ABC's, she is giving them an upper hand in life.
