

Change the World Trust to host coding awards ceremony

The Change the World Trust is spearheading a National Coding Campaign aimed at transforming the lives of the youth.

© Bruce Rolff – 123RF.com

Through numerous coding workshops and key partnerships, Change the World Trust has brought coding to over 2000 youths in 2016. The vision is that every child in every school will get an opportunity to learn computer science. Dell Development Fund is the platinum partner who enabled this campaign.

To celebrate its success, Change the World Trust will be hosting an awards evening on 27 October 2016 at the Holiday Inn, Sandton for stakeholders, partners and donors.

The keynote speaker for the event is Elijah Mhlanga, chief director: media liaison - National and Provincial Communication. His passion for ICT development is unwavering and he brings a wealth of experience in education.

Awards will be presented to the top performing teachers and NGOs who have partnered with Change the World Trust, and an overall commendation for the leaders from across South Africa who have worked hard to improve the lives of many.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>