

William Hlakoane appointed Denel acting CEO

Current Denel group chief operating officer, William Hlakoane, has been appointed as Denel's interim group chief executive officer after Talib Sadik's contract came to an end.

Hlakoane is a mechanical engineer with an MBA from Milpark Business School and has a wealth of experience in the manufacturing sector. He also has experience in operations management with in-depth technical abilities, project management and business development abilities.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>