

Taste Holdings wins communication award

At the Investment Analysts Society of SA (IAS) awards for the Best Corporate Reporting and Communications, held last week, Taste Holdings won in the Retail Services Sector for 2013 reports.

Taste's CFO, Evan Tsatsarolakis with IAS's Mke Brown

Taste Holdings believes in setting the standard for integrity and transparency when it comes to reporting to its stakeholders. Communication with its stakeholders has always been a priority, thus allowing stakeholders to assess the quality and sustainability of our current and future performance.

The IAS award is the latest in a long list of awards for the company. "Past winners of this category have been Mr Price, Bidvest and Tongaat Hulett, so we are in good company," says Taste Holdings' CEO, Carlo Gonzaga. "I am positive about the year ahead and am looking forward to the future successes of our dedicated teams."

Gonzaga also received the Award for Excellence in Franchising from the Franchise Association of South Africa (FASA). "Being inducted into the FASA Hall of Fame is indeed an honour. This is not just an award for myself, but I believe that it should go to the company, our franchisees, support staff, our loyal customer base and everyone who has played such an integral part of making this company the success it is," he concludes.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>