

Isolezwe appoints new editor

IsiZulu-language newspaper, Isolezwe, has appointed Kiki Ntuli as its new editor. Ntuli joined Independent Media as an intern in 2002 and rose through the ranks over the years. She has since held various positions, including senior reporter, lifestyle editor, news editor, and more recently, acting weekend editor.

Independent Media editor-in-chief, Aneez Salie, congratulated Ntuli on her appointment.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>