Our new name, Milpark Education (Pty) Ltd, has allowed us to structure Milpark Education into a number of schools, streamlined to provide the best education within each school's area of specialisation. This is in line with best practice at other higher education institutions both locally and internationally and will allow us to further enhance and expand our academic offering to ensure that our qualifications remain current and relevant to industry.

No Grade 12? No problem!

Milpark College, our Further Education and Training (FET) faculty, will launch in 2014. Milpark College programmes are aimed at students who do not necessarily have Grade 12, but who want to achieve a formal national qualification or international certification. For your convenience, most Milpark College programmes are offered via contact learning in Cape Town, Johannesburg and Durban, or via distance learning.
