

Bluegrass developer team achieves 95% aggregate for MongoDB certification

Issued by Bluegrass Digital

30 Sep 2015

The Bluegrass development team recently underwent weeks of assignments and a lengthy online exam to become MongoDB certified. MongoDB is an open-source, document-oriented database, allowing for JSON-like documents to be stored with dynamic schemas.

Collectively, the team achieved an aggregate of 95%.

"We are very proud of the team, and we've come to expect nothing less as the standard set is consistently high. They're a passionate, hardworking bunch and it shows in all that they do." - Mark Hawkins, Director of Operations.

Bluegrass pride themselves on consistently encouraging the growth and development of their team members' skillsets, by offering online training courses for all employees and nurturing one of the company's core values of 'Developing Innovation'.
