South Africa's premier awards event celebrating business and arts partnerships is now open for entry.

The 19th Annual BASA Awards, partnered by Hollard and Business Day, will once again shine a spotlight on the imaginative and diverse ways that business partners with arts projects, events and initiatives bring the arts to the public in different parts of the country.

“We love the space the awards gives us to explore and deepen our enduring passion for all facets of the arts. It’s great to be working with BASA and Business Day again in growing something that we know is so important to the arts in South Africa,” says Heidi Brauer, Chief Marketing Officer at Hollard.

Newly named in 2016 is the Beyond Borders Partnership Award, which will be awarded to a global-level partnership that builds brand reputation and audience for both the business and an arts organisation across international borders, through an event or marketing project showcasing South Africa within Africa and the rest of the world, and/or bringing international arts projects to South Africa.

The Cultural Tourism Award, supported by Nedbank, has replaced the “Art and the Environment” category as a way of recognising business support of arts and culture projects which contribute towards the growth of communities and jobs, and support the opportunities provided by local tourism.

To be eligible for entry, partnerships must have been activated between 1 January 2015 and 31 December 2015. Long-term or ongoing sponsorships current during that period also qualify for the awards.

The 19th Annual BASA Awards, partnered by Hollard and Business Day, cover a broad spectrum of the arts, including visual arts, dance, theatre, physical performance, music, architecture, fashion and design. The categories have been designed to recognise different kinds of business and arts partnerships – from small to substantial.

When considering entries, the judges will look at a number of carefully considered criteria, including innovation, sustainability and the shared value that emerged from the arts and business partnership.

Entries open on 4 April 2016 and close on 15 June 2016.

Entry into the 19th Annual BASA Awards, partnered by Hollard and Business Day, is facilitated by an online system that is continually streamlined to ensure ease of use. A team at Business and Arts South Africa’s Johannesburg office is also available to assist with entry queries and applications.

It is important to note that the entries can be completed by the sponsoring business and/or the recipient arts organisation, but must be approved by both the business and arts partners.

“The awards are a highlight in our very busy calendar and the event itself is always a powerful, and hugely enjoyable, reminder of just what business and the arts can achieve when they join in creating shared value,” says Michelle Constant, Business and Arts South Africa CEO.
