Did you know that the average user checks WhatsApp more than 23 times per day? WhatsApp has truly revolutionised the way in which we communicate with our friends, family and now brands. Techsys Digital saw this opportunity to develop a platform that will facilitate more engaging and meaningful marketing interactions.

Andrew Walmsley, founder and managing director of Techsys says: "We are a South African based digital agency but we are making global waves by demonstrating that WhatsApp can go far beyond just text and image based messaging, making it far more useful to our clients for valuable exchanges with their customers."
