AfriGIS (Pty) Ltd takes great pleasure in announcing the appointment of Thabo Seopa as its chairperson. Seopa represents Awande Capital Partners on the AfriGIS and Canard holding company boards. The group has Vodacom and Awande as main external shareholders, along with private minorities and the employee share trust.

Thabo Seopa

“Seopa, known for his roles on the boards of Telkom, Trudon and other listed entities, brings a wealth of experience in the data analytics world. We are excited about his involvement in refining our value propositions to customers and thrilled to have him on board,” says Magnus Rademeyer, AfriGIS CEO.

Seopa commented: “It is a privilege to be involved in AfriGIS; I have known and worked with the team for more than a decade and the Awande investment was a logical next step. I am particularly excited about our products in the address validation and enrichment worlds, as well as our recent Location Insights online geo-analysis add-on to the AfriGIS GISLike platform. The AfriGIS geographic data assets, aggregated over the past 20 years, are significant and can be of real benefit to South Africa.”
