Step into the refreshed and tranquil space that is the revamped Club Lounge, bar and patio at the Courtyard Hotel Sandton in Johannesburg. This commercial area is now bookable and features a new look and feel reflected in stylish chairs and rugs, contemporary lighting and artwork, and the latest fittings and fixtures. Various seating arrangements make this the ideal spot for guests and day visitors to hold meetings, host exclusive events, celebrate special occasions, or simply enjoy a meal from the new a la carte menu. The recently launched a la carte offering for lunch and dinner is now available at all five Courtyard Hotels in Johannesburg, Pretoria and Port Elizabeth.

The colour palette of the revamped Club Lounge embraces muted blues, soft greys, silver, charcoal and pale wood, brightened up with splashes of colour. Aesthetically pleasing and hardwearing vinyl flooring has replaced carpets. And a stacking door has been installed in the central bar and food serving area, opening up to the patio outside.

The elegant 69-room Courtyard Hotel Sandton, Johannesburg run by general manager Elzabe de Jager is a destination for business or leisure travellers, as well as day visitors looking to enjoy a secluded spot.

Other improvements at the hotel include coffee machine, iron and ironing board in every room making it quicker and easier for guests to get ready. This enhances the compact and functional kitchenette in each room, which also features a fridge and microwave.

"We have listened to our guests and day visitors and are delighted to offer an enhanced experience at Courtyard Hotel Sandton. This lifestyle hotel features accessible elegance and sophistication in close proximity to the busy Sandton node," says Lindiwe Sangweni-Siddo, chief operating officer.
