6 Feb 2020

The highly anticipated 15th edition of Standard Bank Top Women Leaders is set to hit the shelves in this month. Gracing our cover is South African Olympic gold medallist, Caster Semenya.

Follow her journey from growing up in the village of Ga-Masehlong, Limpopo to winning Olympic gold on the word stage: "I accept love and appreciate myself – it is how I learned how to respect others. I do not respond to negativity or mediocrity. I am Caster – I am not selling anything fake or plastic. My life is not about someone else's perceptions. I live my life authentically and refuse to internalise oppression."

Included in this issue are must-read articles on topics such as empowering women in the digital age, entrepreneurship, businesswomen innovating Africa and sit down interviews with Standard Bank's Pindie Nyandoro, Lindy-Lou Alexander and Itumeleng Monale as well as trend analyst Nicola Cooper.

For 15 years, SB Top Women Leaders has been South Africa's leading gender-empowerment publication, listing and celebrating visionary organisations and individuals which prioritise gender empowerment as integral to their growth and success – as well as that of the country. The publication, along with its valued partners, is dedicated to showcasing these organisations as inspirational thought leaders.
