To mirror today's ever-changing workplace, one of South Africa's largest independent private higher education institutions, Eduvos, blends traditional and tech-driven learning.

Through 12 dynamic campuses spread across the country, Eduvos is changing communities by making high-quality education accessible to all. With over 6,000 students representing 47 diverse nationalities, each unique multicultural Eduvos campus is a gateway to global connectivity.

At Eduvos, we put you at the centre of your education. Smaller class sizes mean closer interaction with our lecturers, which encourages better understanding, results and independent thinking. Credible, tech-driven and practical, our programmes equip you with internationally recognised skills.

It's not simply about studying, it's about building the practical, real-world skills and experiences you'll need to conquer the workplace. It's about future-proofing your career. Through ongoing relationships with industry partners as well as online employability centres, we open the doors of opportunity.

"We strive to give our students the best possible chance to flourish in the working world. Our technology-enhanced campuses, expert academic staff, and variety of degrees and certificates make this possible. Our fully accredited, internationally recognised degrees offer a world of opportunities for our students," states Eduvos Executive Director, Siegie Brownlee.

The ever-changing working world constantly blurs the lines between home and office. That's why we offer 21st century learning that goes beyond the lecture hall. Whether you're seeking part-time or full-time learning, experience a flexible learning approach through our blended strategy wherein students learn through face-to-face engagement and online activities.

Our fully equipped state-of-the-art computer labs and resource centres found on each campus enable you to step into the digital world and access unlimited online tools. Additionally, our biomedicine laboratory in Midrand provides a workspace for our students to master and apply sought-after practical workplace skills.

Our experienced staff have both academic and industry backgrounds. They've been on the frontlines and know what it takes to succeed. Building on a foundation of an industry-led curriculum, we are responsive to the demands of the job market. Therefore, we ensure that our material, content and academic services are relevant, current and continuously updated so that our graduates are workplace ready.

Choose from over 27 degrees, certificates, qualifications and programmes across our four future-facing faculties and transform your tomorrow, today.
