Accelerated Answers joins the suite of agile solutions to help marketers better understand consumers

No time to make consumer-led business decisions, but need answers to your burning questions yesterday? Get the scoop on Kantar's agile solutions using quality data with the support of a team of industry experts...

One of the first mobile research adopters, Kantar has long been a reliable, quality-driven source for online data collection. Every year we conduct hundreds of thousands of online interviews and help our clients connect with our industry experts to achieve their business goals.

Kantar's Profiles Division specialises in panel building and online/mobile data collection, the Kantar Profiles Network is the largest single-source of permission based, GDPR-compliant research-ready respondents whose aim is to make it easier for marketing teams to develop and optimise marketing strategies based on at-scale human understanding. "We've simplified, streamlined and scaled how brand owners can access consumer profiles in compliant ways," says Nadia Gaspari, managing director, Middle East & Africa, Profiles Division, Kantar.

The Profiles Division is the engine behind studies like Kantar BrandZ and Media Reactions, and have established themselves as mobile and online data experts, working across South Africa and the continent to bring you research at the speed of business. They are also the operational division powering Kantar Marketplace and their Holistic Brand Guidance solutions via Programmatic API-driven online data collection, to streamline and simplify data collection through a single access point.

Reputable and responsibly sourced data from Kantar

Kantar's proprietary Panels connect your business to the voices and concerns of your target audiences in more automated, agile, and addressable ways. With over 400,000 research-ready respondents in South Africa, we collect the information you need to respond to today's issues, today. Our opt-in panels respect data protection regulations and follow industry-standard practices to ensure the responses are from people who represent every walk of life. Kantar also uses its own industry-leading quality checks to prevent fraudulent answers from contaminating your data.

Accelerating your understanding of the consumer audience in your industry starts with finding the right, relevant, reliable sources. Our exclusive network of validated panel partners and proprietary Mobiworkx and LifePoints panels are ideal for collecting aggregate data to help you build your brand.

Our solutions are driven by speed and offer the flexibility needed to meet your research objectives

Accelerated Answers is the latest addition to a variety of agile solutions in the Kantar suite. It is the fastest route from reliable, permission-based, aggregate customer data to your business. Our goal is to create actionable solutions and provide you with the tools and insight you need to do business, now and in the future. In the fast-paced and ever-changing digital landscape, you need proven expertise from a company that knows how to keep ahead of the trends. Kantar also offers field-and-tab projects, custom-templated solutions, efficient sampling methods, and unique audiences to get your vital data quickly.

The portal allows you to build your own bespoke research products that are uniquely designed to meet your needs. Research questions are fielded in an automated way – either via a self-service approach or involving the Profiles team to do-it-together (DIT), while still enjoying the benefits of automation and speed. The entire process from submission of questions to launching of the project in a programmatic way and to receiving data is automated via the portal.
