South Africa's most powerful IT publication, MyBroadband, is read by three million readers visiting the site every month.

MyBroadband is South Africa's most powerful IT publication, with three million readers visiting the site every month.

This makes it by far the largest and most influential platform in the technology space, and the best place to reach the country's IT and telecoms decision makers.

The majority of MyBroadband's readers are business decision makers who advise their companies on which products and services to buy.

MyBroadband is particularly popular among CEOs, CTOs, CIOs, business owners, and IT managers who want the latest information about the local IT and Telecoms markets.

A breakdown of MyBroadband's key monthly audience figures is listed below:

- CEOs and directors – 61,000
- Business owners – 368,000
- IT executives and managers – 1.3 million
