7 Oct 2009

Scan Display has launched a comprehensive range of portable indoor and outdoor sports event advertising products.

“We are now able to offer custom-printed, durable and user-friendly branding products, all specially developed for maximum impact at sporting events. They are easy to set up and are weather-proof, providing a comprehensive and affordable solution for sports event branding opportunities,” says Justin Hawes, MD of Scan Display.

Scan is offering a selection of items for track and field events, all of which complement the company's existing exhibition and events product range. The sports branding range includes tunnels, dugouts and perimeter banners.
