16 Jan 2012

MyBroadband is growing its technology news coverage with a dedicated business technology website.

MyBroadband today launched a dedicated business technology website aimed at covering technology news from a business perspective.

MyBroadband BusinessTech, hosted at <http://businesstech.co.za/news>, will complement MyBroadband by adding content that will appeal to people wanting to keep their fingers on the pulse of the business side of technology and IT.

BusinessTech will provide readers with South African business technology news, technology company information, JSE share data, SENS announcements and online business discussions.

Experienced business journalist Gareth Vorster has joined MyBroadband in January 2012 to head up the new website. Prior to joining MyBroadband, Vorster was the ICT Editor at BusinessLive/I-Net Bridge.
