

Looking more closely into the experiences within the various provinces, Western Cape rated tops (83%) for having the best attractions and places to visit. Mpumalanga performed well in terms of meeting expectations (88%) and resultantly, many respondents (88%) indicated that they would go back and do a similar trip.

The Northern Cape scored the highest in terms of the trip being exciting for visitors there. It also scored highest on the trip being educational and informative trip (77%). KZN scored lowest for educational and informative value with 62% but rated 84% for general atmosphere, which could be related to the nature of visits to the area being for relaxation purposes. Limpopo scored the highest for general atmosphere compared to other provinces (91%).

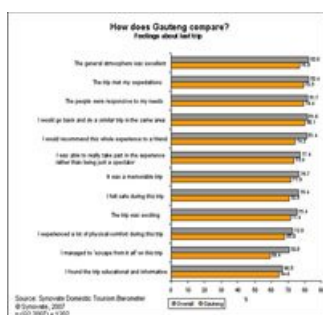

Gauteng is still the most popular province for business visitors, representing half (51%) of business visitors in the autumn / winter quarter. When surveying the length of their stay, Gauteng domestic tourists have shown to stay for an average of 3.5 days. This is obviously affected by the higher proportion of business travellers. 18% of visitors to Gauteng arranged the details of their trip over the internet.

Looking closer at the satisfaction of given aspects for Gauteng, visitors rated 'Friendliness and helpfulness of staff' as well as "Accommodation" highest (80%) for both. While still reflecting positively, "Attractions and places to visit" received the lowest relative rating at 72% compared to the other attributes. These findings bring to attention that that Gauteng could increase domestic tourist satisfaction by improving communication points which provide visitor information.
