

Eurolab appoints Gavin Steel

Oncology company Eurolab has appointed Gavin Steel as the CEO of its Aseptic Services Unit (ASU).

Steel, who is the former chief director in the national Department of Health, is in charge of setting up an international best practice facility for the mixing of chemotherapy and introducing innovative technology for better access to oncology care in South Africa.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>