

Renne Schonborn joins Logic Truth

Renne Schonborn has been named partner and head of training and coaching for employee marketing company, Logical Truth.

Prior to joining Logical Truth, she founded and successfully led a communications consultancy for 17 years. Over the course of her career, she worked closely with a network of trusted associates to devise, implement and manage communications campaigns for her clients, both in the B2B and B2C sectors.

Over the past few years, she has expanded her work scope and qualified as a professional coach, opening a coaching practice alongside her communications business.
