

Food Lover's Market now offers paper bags to customers

As of 1 August 2018, fresh produce retailer Food Lover's Market is offering paper bags to its customers nationwide in its commitment to a plastic-free shopping experience.

The paper bag offering comes after a successful implementation of paper straws nationally and a successful pilot of paper bags in the Western Cape during the month of July.

The bags cost R2 each and the implementation is a natural progression from the free farmers' boxes that Food Lover's Market has been offering consumers for 25 years and the branded Food Lover's Market boxes that's been available in stores for the past few years.
