

Cybereason appoints Chantél Hamman as its new channel director

Chantél Hamman has been appointed as Cybereason's new channel director focused on expanding the company's presence in sub-Saharan Africa. Hamman has nearly 20 years of experience in the technology industry. Working with current and prospective partners, she will develop programmes for growing their revenue and margins.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>