

International Public Arts Festival 2021

The International Public Arts Festival (IPAF), one of Africa's largest and most anticipated public arts festivals took place recently producing an array of captivating art murals from top South African and overseas talent.

There was a strong focus on sustainability and promoting Cape Town as a creative force in the global arena. "We had a fantastic range of artworks, with each artist depicting their own creative and personal version of 100% Sustainability", says festival organiser Lauren Fletcher.
