

Meet the Avanza's replacement, the Toyota Rumion

The Toyota Rumion compact MPV has been launched in South Africa. As the third product of Toyota and Suzuki's strategic alliance, the Rumion will replace the Avanza.

The Toyota Rumion is available in three grades, S, SX, and TX. The S grade is designed for customers who want pure functionality at an affordable price point, the SX grade offers a comfortable balance between affordability and convenience and the TX grade is designed for those who want improved comfort and convenience.

All grades include driver and passenger airbags, ABS, EBD as well as ISOFIX points. Additionally, an alarm and immobiliser come standard in all grades.

All models come standard with a four-service/60,000km plan and three-year/100,000km warranty. Its retail price ranges from R245,600 to R317,200.
