

Splashy Fen 2021

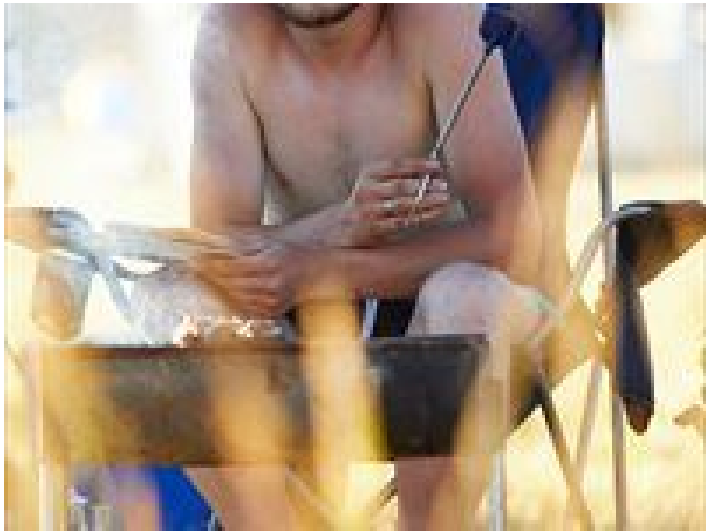

This past weekend, 250 lucky fans got the opportunity to experience Splashy Fen as it has never been experienced before, with a camping musical weekend being hosted on the iconic farm in a small, compliant and intimate format.

Splashy Fen farm would normally have been buzzing with some 10 000 festival-goers this past Easter weekend. Having last been staged in April 2019, the festival was forced to cancel in 2020, only two weeks before it was supposed to be staged, due to the onset of lockdown measures attributed to the spread of COVID-19 in South Africa.
