Double Formula E world champions

Mercedes-EQ Formula E Team pulled off a historic double win to be crowned Formula E world champions. Nyck de Vries claimed the driver's title while Mercedes-EQ Formula E finished ahead of all others in the teams championship.

The final two races of the season took place in Berlin this past weekend. It was a home event for many drivers on the grid as well as the German teams - Audi, BMW, Mercedes and Porsche - so there was plenty to play for. No fewer than 18 drivers - of 24 in the field - had a mathematical chance of winning the title Going into the weekend.

Continue reading the full story on [Double Apex]].