

Mancosa appoints new principal

Private higher education institution, Mancosa, has appointed professor Magnate Ntombela as its new principal. Professor Ntombela replaces philanthropist and eminent educationist, professor Yusuf Karodia, who passed away last December.

Professor Ntombela previously worked with NGOs, in public schooling and in public and private higher education. In 1999, he joined the University of South Africa where he worked as KZN regional director for 17 years. He holds several educational qualifications, including a bachelor of science degree (biochem and zoology) and a secondary teachers' diploma from the University of Zululand.
