BMW announced that its all-new 128ti model will be launched in South Africa on Monday, 1 March. The BMW 128ti features a 2.0-litre engine with BMW TwinPower Turbo technology, a direct offshoot of the variant in the BMW M135i xDrive, as well as exclusive interior and exterior features, giving the car a distinctive appearance. See the gallery below:

The interior features a host of red accents, including a large Race Red surface in the backrests of the standard sport seats, the embroidered "ti" badge in the central armrest and contrast stitching in the other armrests, door panels and instrument panels.

The BMW 128ti is priced from R687,418, including 15% VAT and CO2 tax.
