

SA welcomes the Audi Q5 Sportback

Audi is now presenting its third crossover utility vehicle (CUV), the first-ever Q5 Sportback. With its dynamic lines, this coupe will appeal to customers who value not just an expressive design and technical advancements, but also a sporty character and a high level of practicality in everyday use.

The Audi Q5 Sportback is equipped with numerous driver assistance systems. Adaptive cruise control is combined with an active lane departure warning system and can relieve the driver of accelerating, braking and keeping in lane in many situations.

The interior of the Audi SQ5 Sportback TFSI is finished in black or dark grey, and the illuminated aluminium door sill plates are adorned with S logos. There is a choice of three covers for the electrically adjustable sports seats with the embossed S logos.

The Q5 Sportback and SQ5 Sportback TFSI are on sale now in South Africa. Retail prices range from R960,000 to R 1,355,000 and come with a five-year Audi freeway plan as standard.
