

Addressing the changing media landscape Citilites Amplified

The rate of change in the media landscape is putting more pressure on media agencies, brands and advertisers, around optimising budgets and delivering on campaign goals. Agencies are better informed than ever before about consumers, however, knowing which consumer insights to reference and how to interpret them for improved media mix decisions is becoming ever more complex.

Original Article

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>