

#TechWatch: The end of the cellphone?

In this podcast series, Bilal and Maseeh Kathrada discuss the latest trends and life-changing innovations in technology.

In this episode, father and son duo, Bilal and Maseeh Kathrada talk about some of the gadgets that a couple of years ago could have been found in every home but have today become completely obsolete. They talk about the likeliness that this could also happen to mobile phones, and sooner than you'd think.
